Situation Overview

Russia's offensive against Ukraine continues. Moscow is increasingly committing forces withdrawn from elsewhere in the combat zone to the front lines in the Donbas. However, the success of Ukraine's counteroffensive north and east of the city of Kharkiv may prompt Russian forces to redirect additional troops to protect the main supply route between Belgorod, Russia, and Izyum in Ukraine's Kharkiv Region, where large concentrations of Russian troops and materiel are located.

Hungary:

The number of refugees fleeing from Ukraine did not change significantly during the last week. The number of registered asylum seekers reached slightly more than 23 thousand people. The overwhelming majority of asylum seekers comprise families, single mothers with their children. 14,569 displaced people were recognized and officially granted temporary refugee status. Communities and private individuals hosting displaced people temporarily are experiencing donor fatigue and are growing impatient. Mediation, intervention and support from NGO actors - including HRCA - were often needed. Major NGOs approached HRCA for support in this regard.

Poland:

According to the UN, as of 31st May, 6.8 million refugees have fled Ukraine to neighboring countries since 24th February 2022. As of 31st May over 3.6 million refugees fled to Poland so far, through eight border crossings.

The number of border crossings out of Ukraine into neighboring countries, including Poland, is still high but the trend is declining in May, as compared to April.

Romania:

The overflow of refugees is fluctuating, and the situation is changing every week. Between 23rd and 27th of May there was an increase in the number of refugees that crossed the border in the northwestern part of the country. In the east, the number of refugees who crossed the border slightly decreased, but the overall workload situation remains intense. There is a high number of Ukrainian refugees in Romania who currently benefit from shelter and cash distribution. The focus is to meet the basic needs of these refugees for the period of time they remain in the country.

In the week of 23-29 May 2022, about 300 Ukrainian refugees crossed the border into Romania. The vast majority of refugees who were accommodated in hotels, boarding houses or individuals are left without a place to stay, because hoteliers are preparing for the opening of the summer season, and without state support, they no longer want to accommodate refugees. In Bucharest there are approximately 2500 refugees who are looking for a place to stay - currently being accommodated in an emergency in public spaces: gyms, dormitories, various buildings provided by the authorities. Aidrom is reporting a massive increase in the number of people who run out of food, hygiene products, the number of people with health problems is constantly increasing. There is also the increase in the number of people who want to take Romanian language courses, because it is extremely difficult to find a job without a minimum knowledge of the Romanian language. The state has not yet been able to implement a strategy or a program in this regard.

Ukraine:

Ukrainian authorities have reported more than 2 million movements back into the country during last week. Inside Ukraine, many people who are trapped are unable to meet their basic needs including food, water and medicines. The delivery of life-saving aid remains challenging, with a lack of safe humanitarian access. Governments and partners continue striving to reach hard-hit areas with life-saving assistance as part of inter-agency humanitarian support.

Eastern Ukraine remains the center of hostilities, while airstrikes and missile attacks continue to be reported in multiple oblasts in Ukraine, in particular around the strategic eastern towns of Lysychansk and Severodonetsk. In southern Ukraine, delivering aid in Kherson remains challenging. In the east, access to Luhansk Oblast is very limited due to intense fighting, as well as Sloviansk and Kramatorsk in Donetsk Oblast.

UNHCR reports the war in Ukraine has displaced 8 million people within the country while more than 6.6 million Ukrainians have fled abroad. The ongoing intensifying hostilities in Donetska and Luhanska oblasts continue to make the need for safe passage for civilians more necessary while simultaneously more dangerous and, at times, impossible. Ukrainian Ombudsperson Lyudmyla Denisova reported that, on 24 May, a bus evacuating 18 civilians from the Luhanska oblast settlement of Vrubivka came under fire. During the reporting period, only approximately 140 civilians were reported to have been evacuated from the Government Controlled Areas (GCA) of Luhanska oblast. The UN does not have the means to verify the number of evacuated people. Elsewhere in the country, it was reported on 18 May that vehicles carrying civilians trying to evacuate from Non-Government Controlled Areas (NGCA) of Khersonska oblast came under shelling, with six people injured. On 19 May, the authorities in Zaporizka oblast reported that at least 1,000 vehicles carrying civilians trying to evacuate to GCA of the oblast were lined up and not being allowed to leave NGCA.

The Ukrainian think tank Razumkov Centre has published the report *Attitudes and Assessments of Ukrainian Refugees Who Return Home \(April–May 2022\)* based on a survey of 105 people in western Zakarpatska oblast between 11 April and 6 May. The results include that, among those who said they had returned to Ukraine, the vast majority (69 per cent) are residents of central and northern Ukraine – mostly residents of Kyiv city (35 per cent) and northern Kyivska oblast (17 per cent) – while 12 per cent of the returnees were residents of eastern Ukraine, 10.5 per cent of western Ukraine and 9 per cent of southern Ukraine. Further, 73 per cent of respondents said, now that they had returned to Ukraine, they planned to settle in the same area where they lived before the war, while 26 per cent – mainly residents of eastern Ukraine – said they planned to settle elsewhere.

The heaviest fighting has been centered on settlements in the Luhansk Region and in northern parts of the Donetsk Region, where Moscow's forces continue to make incremental gains amid a Ukrainian troop withdrawal; the offensive has further weakened Ukrainian positions around Severodonetsk and Popasna. Russian troops have reportedly occupied most of Lyman and have taken over two-thirds of the perimeter of Severodonetsk. The city itself has been heavily shelled; local authorities have stated that at least 60 per cent of the residential buildings in the city have been destroyed and that more than 1,500 persons have been killed. Ukrainian troops are reportedly surrounded in the Hirske-Orikhove-Zolote complex south of Severodonetsk. The fall of this area would be significant as there are few easily defensible points en route to Lysychansk. Local authorities in Severodonetsk have started planning potential evacuation routes. South of Izyum, Russian forces continue artillery bombardments against Ukrainian positions defending the road to Slovyansk, including in Dovhenke. The Russian army is likely looking to push on along the M03 highway and link up with troops attempting to move through Lyman and across the Siverskiy Donets River to attack Slovyansk. Heavy clashes have also been reported in the area around Popasna. North of Kharkiv city, intense battles continue in the Ternova area and around Rubizhne. Preliminary reports suggest Ukrainian troops may have taken control of Ternova. Russian forces have reportedly halted their retreat and are mining roads in the border region to inhibit the northward movement of Ukrainian units. At least nine people were killed and 17 injured in Russian shelling of Kharkiv city May 27; this has been the first case of shelling against the city itself in two weeks.

Russian forces continue to conduct heavy artillery and missile attacks, as well as airstrikes on targets throughout the country. At least ten people were killed and 35 injured when a Russian missile hit a Ukrainian National Guard base in Dnipro. Russia also continues to shell targets in Sumy and Chernihiv regions, highlighting the continued risks of such attacks, particularly in areas close to the border.

Ukrainian Railways (UZ) has restored near-regular commuter services throughout much of the central and western parts of the country and continues to operate evacuation trains from most major cities, including Kyiv; however, rail services are subject to disruptions without warning. Civilian aviation remains suspended, and the nation's seaports are closed.

The government has extended Ukraine's existing nationwide martial law decree until Aug. 23. Curfews are in effect in multiple regions. In Kyiv Region, a curfew is in effect 23:00-05:00, with some municipality-level variations, through at least May 29. In Mykolaiv, a curfew is in place 22:00-06:00. In Zaporizhzhia Region, the curfew runs 22:00-05:00. Generally, civilians must stay indoors during curfew hours; exemptions exist for workers in critical infrastructure and persons seeking urgent medical care or bomb shelters. Depending on local developments, authorities may extend or amend curfew hours on short notice.

Intermittent telecommunications, internet, and utility disruptions continue across much of the country. Reports also indicate a shortage of basic supplies, including groceries and pharmaceutical products, in multiple cities facing Russian ground assaults. Finally, the National Bank of Ukraine has limited foreign currency transfers and withdrawals.
